2011-12 Special Circumstances Review

Eligibility
The Office of Financial Aid realizes that some students and their families have special circumstances that affect their ability to pay for college. Many times the information on the FAFSA no longer reflects the family resources. In order to accurately assess your family’s resources we ask you to complete this form. This information sheet outlines the types of circumstances we are able to consider and the request process. Should you wish to have our office review your family's circumstances please complete the Special Circumstances Review Request form.

Circumstances We Consider for Review
1) Death of a Parent or Guardian
2) Divorce and Legal Separation
3) Change in Financial Resources
   - Unemployment or significant change in earnings
   - Disability of student or parent
   - Loss of non-recurring income or benefits
   - One-time income
   - Un-reimbursed medical or dental expenses

Circumstances We Do Not Consider
Due to limited funding, our office is unable to consider the following types of expenses or adjustments to income when determining your financial aid eligibility.
   - Losses from real estate, business or investments in the current year
   - Consumer debt, including credit card debt

Timing of the Request Process
Families that experience a change in the household size due to death of a parent or divorce/separation will have their information reviewed upon receipt of a completed Special Circumstance Review Form. Forms may be submitted at any time and we encourage families to provide the information as early as possible.

Families that experience a change in their financial circumstances will be asked to complete the Special Circumstance Review request after receipt of the initial award notification. We ask that at least three months elapse from the initial change in circumstance prior to completing this request. This allows our office to use financial figures that better estimate the change in your family resources.

Steps to Completing the Special Circumstance Process
1. Complete your FAFSA.
2. Complete the Special Circumstance Review Form and attach any supporting documentation requested.
3. Submit a letter explaining your special circumstance.
4. Students will be notified once their request has been reviewed.
   Email notification will be sent for revisions in the student's financial aid award.
